Introduction

The role of adequate and reliable data in enhancing the quality of policy decision cannot be over emphasized. It is widely recognized that data are major inputs into policy analysis. Apart from its theoretical frame, policy analysis requires well-structured and reliable data that provide the true reflection and working of the economy upon which the policy analysis is being undertaken.

Recognizing the critical role of the timely provision of macroeconomic data in the policy arena, the Central Bank of Liberia has endeavored in the past several years to provide to the public data on essential macroeconomic indicators. These data have undoubtedly helped several institutions in the country in formulating policies based on empirical considerations.

This is evidenced by the numerous commendations it has received from the public regarding the quality of the information in its various publications. This current edition of the year 2011 (fourth edition) contains data from January 2009 to August 2011. The cover page of this edition illustrates Liberia's exchange rates end of period from September 2010 to August 2011.

Finally, we would like to express our heartfelt gratitude to our many data providers, who have worked diligently to ensure the successful publication of this and other publications in the past.
